

The Week at NJ21st: Referendum Breakdown, Turf Field Ghosting and Kindergarten for Everyone

John Migueis | Editor

Referendums... After John's months-long battle with BHPSNJ to obtain details on the proposed referendum, he finally received documents connected to the District's submission to the state and breaks it down. The result: more questions than answers. The District still has a lot to explain before asking voters for \$50

million. We've published the full file.

Libraries... A local educator weighs in on the Library Liaison position—how it can matters and who's best suited for the role.

...And Phantom Turf Fields Laura revisits the turf field saga with new concerns about flooding following the recent storm and an update on the continued silence from the Township on the legality of the lease agreement.

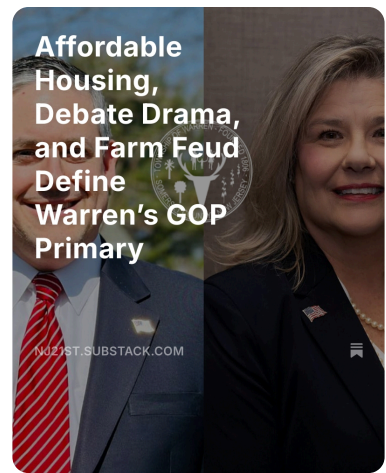

The Prices Are Insane!!! Throwing it back, Crazy Eddie style, John takes on the cost of living in New Jersey. One article explores the troubling gap between wages and property taxes. Another breaks down what's behind your spiking energy bill.

Get It Together, NJ Laura looks at the state's new early education mandate through the lens of New Providence, Chatham, and Berkeley Heights. Spoiler: Don't be Berkeley Heights.

On the Socials New Providence presents on the NJGPA with Berkeley Heights showing up in it's typical spot.

As a non-commercial, ad-free, and currently donation-free platform, we rely on you to help us grow. If you value independent coverage of local government, please consider sharing our articles and even submitting your own.

Top Three Articles for June

Subscribe to Our Substack

Any Resident of the 21st District Can Submit Content on Local Government Issues to team@nj21st.com

